Retrieving device information online
Ordering spare parts quickly and easily

The image displays a composite of three overlapping screenshots from the MULAG connect web application:

- Top Left: A browser window showing the login page with fields for "Benutzer" (User) and "Passwort" (Password).

Spare parts and technical information online!

With our web portal MULAG connect, a comfortable online system is available, which enables you to work quickly and efficiently. All you need is Internet access and you can take advantage of the portal from any place and at any time:

For each serial number, you can call up the associated individual spare parts list including parts drawings and, if necessary, from there add the required parts to the shopping cart. Operating instructions and circuit diagrams are also available for each device.

The advantages are obvious - identifying and ordering spare parts quickly and efficiently and retrieving comprehensive device information.

If you also want to participate in MULAG connect, you can easily register.

If you have any questions about the online system, please do not hesitate to contact us.
